AUTUMN RAIN

While traveling to Red Lake, Milton, Ottawa, Toronto, Brampton, Kingston, Whitby, Kaladar, Newcastle and Port Perry last autumn, I was reminded how vast and beautiful Ontario truly is. Simply gorgeous! No question the Autumn is my favorite time of year. The colors and cooler climate are a happy medium between what was and what's coming.

Speaking of what's coming, allow me to lay a foundation by sharing what was in my travels across Ontario. People are hungry for Real. They're more concerned about hosting the presence of God rather than just packaged music and PowerPoint preaching. Congregations are looking for Minister's not just good preachers. Declaration and Demonstration! How do I know? Red Lake hosted three days of meetings. Milton - three services in one day to preach Holy Spirit.

Ottawa weekend outreach simply to bless the community. Toronto - two morning services with altar beyond 1:30 p.m. Brampton an Inter-denominational Pastors' luncheon. Kingston – a one day men's retreat with 250 men in attendance. In Whitby, a morning service where people lined the altar for over an hour. Kaladar packed out on a cold snowy Sunday evening. Newcastle - a packed Town Hall to hear the gospel sung by The Toronto Mass Choir. Port Perry New Year's Eve.... All across Ontario, I found people hungry for a fresh touch of God. Not manipulated, media driven or manufactured, just the real deal. O God let it be so in 2016!

THOUGHTS FROM MY JOURNAL

There's a problem when...

- you crave the platform more than His presence.
- Holy Spirit doesn't make the Order of Service.
- the community doesn't know you can help.
- your faith doesn't look like Jesus.

HONDURAS 2015

I have traveled to Honduras since 2010 working primarily with Schools of Hope. What a joy to train and equip hundreds of Pastors, bless the children, host missionary events, preach in prisons, churches, on the streets and radio.

During our last trip in late November we worked with "Beyond Words", a ministry out of Nashville, TN, that blessed over 1500 children with gifts for Christmas. It was incredible to see the children's faces as they received their gift and candy.

I had the opportunity to preach at a pastor's conference hosted by World Gospel Outreach and host another sponsored by Reapers. What glorious times in worship and the word. The intensity while singing, the tear stained cheeks and out stretched hands will be a picture that stays with me forever.

Street meetings are common in Tegucigalpa. It seems simple, find an intercession, block off one side with a couple of trucks, set up lights, a sound system and sing, preach and give an invitation. When the altar call was given seven people walked forward to give their lives to Christ.

I've learned something over the past ten years that I had not learned in twenty-four years of pastoring. The power of networking! For example my trip to Honduras was paid and prayed for by dozens of people. While I was there I worked with eight ministries to accomplish what needed to be done. I'm beginning to understand the difference between a well and a network of trenches. Maybe we are better working together.

HARVEST PRINCIPLES

Matthew 4:19

Follow me...what we do.

I will make you...what He does.

Fishers of men...what we become.
